. . . the EXPLORER

. . . class of 1949

. . . LaSalle College

. . . Philadelphia . . . Pennsylvania

With an expansion of the city of Philadelphia, there was an increasing need for a Catholic college. Its charter granted in 1863, La Salle was begun in a parish church. By 1929 the institution had outgrown three locations. In the fall of 1929, classes were held in the present College Hall for the first time. As the school grew further, McCarthy Stadium was built in 1937, followed by McShain

Hall in 1940, Leonard Hall in 1947 and Benilde Hall in 1948. Recent plans call for additional structures to be erected about the twenty acre campus to meet the needs of the ever growing student body.

As the need increased . . .

With the outbreak of the war in the early forties, all activity at La Salle College was drastically reduced. Enrollment dropped and the work of the college almost ceased. With the cessation of hostilities, the students returned. The administration further developed its program for the education and training of Catholic men. As the needs of the students arose, whether in courses of study or places to study, the school met their needs. The faculty was increased and more space was provided. New and varied courses were placed on the curriculum until now the students' needs are met in every possible way. The spirit of the prewar student body began to stage a return. The result of this development was a La Salle College that was to place high in the minds of educators in the city and whose reputation was to grow gradually throughout the nation.

Dedication

Blessed Brother Solomon, educated by the Christian Brothers, entered the noviate at the age of twenty-seven after an interim in the commercial world. He rose rapidly to the position of Secretary General to Brother Agathon. The upheaval accompanying the hectic days of the French Revolution in 1789 added tremendous personal obligation upon Blessed Brother Solomon. Despite the dangers and hardships surrounding the educators in Paris at this time, he maintained organization and close contact within the Institute of the Christian Brothers. Blessed Brother Solomon, through his courageous example, showed his comrades the proper course of action. His refusal to take the schismatic oath of fidelity to the Civil Constitution of the Clergy, imposed by the States-General under Louis XVI, led to his imprisonment. On September 2, 1792, Blessed Brother Solomon was brutally massacred. In view of his heroic life and his devotion to principle we dedicate this edition of the Explorer to Blessed Brother Solomon.

Through expanded facilities . . .

Leonard Hall

Leonard Hall, the first of the new buildings to reflect the needs of the expanding college, was dedicated during the week of August 24, 1947. The recreational facilities and a modern cafeteria indicated an administrative concern for more than academic subjects.

Benilde Hall

Due to the congestion in the main building, Benilde Hall, dedicated on September 19, 1948, provided 10,000 square feet of additional floor space. The building contains nine modern classrooms, six faculty offices and a student reading room.

. . . We have grown in personal stature . . .

No man can retain an eminent standing in the undergraduate environment without assimilating the values of its teachings, the degree depending on his application and his utilization of those facilities available. In his pursuit of scholarship, the student will cultivate the rudiments of learning as applicable to success as he steps into the millrace of the professional world.

. . . with able leadership

Officers of the College

Brother G. Paul
President of the College

To fulfill the office of the chief administrator of a large institution requires, at all times, a capable man. In a growing college, the need for wise leadership becomes more evident. We were fortunate to have completed a college education under the competent leadership of Brother Paul.

Brother G. Lewis
Vice-President of the College

To assist the President in his duties and to manage the myriad details of administration demands unique ability. Brother Lewis has exhibited this ability as Vice President, a role which is often difficult in its apparent obscurity.

Brother E. Stanislaus
Dean of the College

Maintaining the personal touch in daily contacts with a large number of men entails a keen student of human nature. Brother Stanislaus, philosopher as well as dean, has shown us that we were regarded as men before we became alumni.

Brother G. Joseph
Registrar

The record-breaking classes have placed added burden on the office of the Registrar. The compilation of grades, preparation of transcripts and computation of averages have magnified the importance of La Salle's academic recorder.

Brother E. John
Bursar

The endless task of financial record keeping has been performed with consistent efficiency by Brother John. Through pleasantness and humor he has lent a warmth to otherwise cold and impersonal business relations.

and capable Administration

During our tenure at La Salle College student enrollment had grown steadily and with this growth the problems of administration increased. To the passing student the internal workings of an institution of this size can easily remain in the background, especially when the administrators are as considerate and congenial as are those at La Salle. In every stage of our college career their aid has helped immeasurably in allowing us more time to devote to our studies.

... under erudite guidance,

The rising student enrollment necessitated a commensurate increase in the curricula and in professional guidance. Included in the additions to the liberal arts curriculum were advanced philosophy courses, heralding the arrival of Brother Vincent, Dr. Blanchard and Dr. Keleher. The language department was augmented by conversational courses in the newly opened Phonetics Studio under the direction of Dr. John Guischard. The Drama department formed under Mr. Willard Walsh offered courses in acting and directing and formed a solid basis for the future growth of the art of the theatre at La Salle College.

As a corollary to a liberal education, advanced sociological studies, including a marriage preparation course by Father Gorman, College Chaplain, and a comprehensive study of the history of social thought by Brother Augustine were offered to interested students.

The Department of History extended its scope to include courses in the History of Asia Minor and of Russia under the instruction of Doctor McCloskey and Mr. Donini. A Political Science course, including International Relations and World Politics with an inclusive study of national and local government, was initiated with Messrs. Courtney and Cleary as instructors.

The Business Course was subdivided into General Business, Accounting, Economics, Industry and Marketing, supplemented by a diversified study plan including Statistics, Federal and State Taxes, Contemporary Economic Systems, Field Work in Industry, and Industrial Psychology.

Under the expert guidance of Brother F. Azarias, co-worker of Brother Felix, F.S.C., professor emeritus of the La Salle Education Department, the department attained national recognition as a leader in the field in the training of Catholic young men in their chosen career. Brother Azarias was elected Secretary of the National Catholic Educational Association.

The Department of Natural Sciences was extended to encompass the areas of Preparation for Medicine and for Dentistry, Chemistry, Physics, Mathematics and Biology, supervised by Brother F. Christopher, Brother G. Paul, Brother G. Joseph, Brother D. Julius and Doctor R. Holroyd.

Brother G. Paul, F.S.C., B.S., M.S., Ph.D., LL.D., President of the College, Professor of Chemistry, Chairman: Committee on College Policy.

The class of 1949 . . .

The majority of us entered La Salle with technical knowledge as our dominant goal. With our graduation, we sense an accumulation of more than a mere theoretical knowledge of a science or of the arts. We have realized the importance of the disciplines that are not correlated to earning power. Without a proper store of moral values, our efforts in the professional fields would be for naught. We carry with us an extrinsic ability to share in the world's goods and an intrinsic sense of sharing our portion of the world's goods with others.

. . . other than required

The revived school spirit that has been evident at La Salle was the direct cause of the renaissance of student organizations that are so vital a part in contributing to comprehensive student training. Post-war students slowly picked up the threads of campus activity organization. Traditional societies struggled to regain their previous status, while fledgling groups attempted to capture their share of attention.

Class Officers

Man is a social animal. Education can never proclaim the absolute autonomy of his intellectual powers to the detriment of the social facets of his composite nature. To educate a man is to educate the whole man; to develop one faculty of man, ignoring the further demands of his nature, is to develop half a man.

The Administration and student body of La Salle College, jointly recognizing and proclaiming this basic principle of true education, saw fit to establish a student government. For what is student government but a recognition of man's natural destiny to exist in a political community. Student government is nothing more than the actualization of an inherent tendency in human nature. It is a replica in miniature of the politically organized state with which each student must share his existence.

If the educated man is unable to intelligently adapt himself to political life, to assume his share of the political burden, he is not truly educated. There is some flaw in the educational machinery which sent forth this defective product. That flaw was the lack of social priming for his political life.

What more efficacious device could be evolved to nurture man in his political setting than that of student government? If the future participant in political life could be schooled in the fundamental principles of democratic government, and given the opportunity to apply them to his student life, then his enlightened civic participation would be assured.

The basic principles of democratic government do not change. The social bodies to which they apply may differ, but the structural fabric is grounded on immutable principles. The citizen has the same rights and obligations to his civic government as the student has to his student government.

The leaders of the civic community have the same responsibility to the citizenry that the student leaders have to the student body. Details of organization differ but principles remain unchanged.

Student government is not a whimsical fancy of immature students to be tolerated by the benevolent administration; neither is it a face-tious mask to be ridiculed by unthinking students. It merits the name of education just as deservedly as does the intellectual disciplines in their formal venter. To deny the educational merit of student government is to dissect human nature, ignoring the very unity which characterizes the human being.

If student government is given its rightful position in the educational process, and allowed to function in its proper sphere, then education is that much more complete. A vital need is furnished the student community when each student, as an individual, is assured of his importance and benefit to the community to which he belongs. He is nurtured in a democratic philosophy that will pervade his future life, establishing him as a dynamic citizen in an enlightened democracy.

La Salle College has witnessed the growth of student government through its first year of trying infancy. As the rough edges are bewn, the splendor of the gem appears ever so dimly. The beauty of the ideal of student government which lies hidden beneath the virgin crust of difficulties and disappointments is slowly being uncovered.

The rebukes and scoffs of the impatient masses often conceal even the glimmerings which occasionally filter through. Yet the impediments of growth and the awkwardness of motion will one day disappear, and our ideal will be achieved. Student government may be awkward in its growth, but it will be brilliant in its maturity.

The Masque

The Masque opened the school year by welcoming a new moderator and full-time director, Mr. Willard G. Walsh. Elections were held and Thomas Fairbrother became President; Walter Kanigowski, Vice-President; William Snyder, Secretary, James Connor, Treasurer; and James Conboy, Assistant Director of Production.

The organization went into high gear immediately when Mr. Walsh announced his plans for the production of four plays during the year, a new high in Masque activity.

The first play was Moliere's "The Doctor in Spite of Himself," starring John Burns in the title role. In January a brilliantly lighted and costumed "Romeo and Juliet" was presented with the aid of Chestnut Hill College and Immaculata College girls, and starring Gerald Nugent and Eileen O'Connor.

The Masque went to Chestnut Hill College in February for an evening of one-act plays, followed by a social.

"Life With Father," with William Graham and Gere McNutt was the April offering and met with a great success.

"H.M.S. Pinafore" was produced in May with the substantial aid of the La Salle Glee Club and the Chestnut Hill College Glee Club. Joseph McDonald, Humbert Sweeney and James McCrane carried the principal roles ably.

The Masque was fortunate in securing the services of Frank Scully as set designer and Thomas Quaid as musical director for the year.

The post war revival of Junior Week began with the exercises of a Day of Recollection held at the college on Sunday, May 2, and ended with the Junior Prom, a gala affair, held on the following Friday evening.

The retreat, conducted by Rev. Doctor John Donnelly, Chaplain of the Newman Club, University of Pennsylvania, assisted by Father Gorman, College Chaplain, emphasized the evil of secularism and branded it as the chief menace to the Catholic life of this time. The attendance at all exercises was both large and edifying.

Two hundred and fifty couples attended the Junior Prom held at the Cedarbrook Country Club. The music was furnished by Johnny Paige and his Melody Makers. A special feature of the evening was the crowning, as honorary queen, of Miss Eileen Margaret O'Connor, the two-weeks' old daughter of Mr. Robert O'Connor, Class of 1949. Miss Sylvia Shapranas, guest of Mr. Louis Viggiano, was crowned with a garland of white carnations as the symbol of her selection as Queen of the Prom. Later in the evening, Brother Stanislaus, Dean, assisted by Miss Shapranas, presented bronze keys to the Juniors in fitting remembrance of an enjoyable evening.

Other events of the week included in the program were a bowling tournament directed by Tom Quinlan and won by Bill Blankfield, and a successful stag night held at the Shanahan A. C. under the direction of John Biehl. And, last but by no means least, a Barn Dance and Weenie Roast ably supervised by Dave Lawrence and Charley Walker.

A softball game between the faculty and members of the Junior class and a tennis tournament had to be postponed because of rain and wet grounds.

The annual Blue and Gold Ball was held for the second consecutive year in the beautifully decorated main ballroom of the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel.

Resplendent in formal attire, approximately five hundred couples danced to the scintillating music of Buddy Williams and his Orchestra, featuring Kay Justice and chubby Vic Stanley.

Stanley, an impressionist, stole the spotlight during the evening with his excellent characterizations of prominent stars of stage, screen and radio.

The Blue and Gold Ball this year lived up to its reputation as being the outstanding social event of La Salle College.

The formative stage of a yearbook usually involves an intensive search for a lofty theme in which the writers disguise the institution so competently that no one recognizes it. When several forty-niners got together in the summer of 1948 to initiate a yearbook, the same search developed. Gradually it simmered down, and by the beginning of the fall term they had ceased striving to produce another "Koran" and had assumed only to chronicle our stay at La Salle College with some emphasis on the structural and intellectual growth of the College.

The Harvest Dance

The traditional affair that initiated the Autumn social season at La Salle was a magnificent spectacle.

Under the capable guidance of Chairman Ed Grady, the committee arranged a splendid program. The result was the best attended, the most financially remunerative, and the most socially successful dance in the history of the college.

The sweet and slow tempo of Johnny McGee and his orchestra was enthusiastically received by six hundred couples in the spacious Crystal Room of the Broadwood Hotel. The Harvest theme added to the decor of the ballroom. The dance was held off-campus because renovations to the field house were in progress at the time.

During the intermission, entertainment was ably furnished by the students and an honored guest, Miss Ginnie Roberts. This was climaxed with Joe Rogers leading the entire group in the "Loyalty Song."

The Harvest Dance is a charity affair and in accordance with previous tradition, the entire profits of nearly a thousand dollars were turned over to the Provincial Mother House of the Christian Brothers in Ammendale, Maryland.

Congratulations to the Committee, to the students who entertained, and to all who helped make this year's Harvest Dance a social triumph that will never be forgotten and will set the standard for excellence in years to come.

In order to maintain the eminent reputation of the Podium Society as being the representative group of La Salle's cultural activities, the officers of the society, under the direction of Dr. John A. Guischard, formulated a list of constructive innovations. In addition to the regular weekly concerts, a monthly evening concert was inaugurated, consisting of a complete opera or symphony, followed by an informal dance for members.

The Opera Department synchronized its presentations with the local performances of the Philadelphia La Scala Opera Company, and, to aid the eager listener, the Society registered in the La Scala Opera League. As a supplement to the listener's operatic education, publications of the Metropolitan Opera Company's "Opera News" are available for reference in the Phonetics Studio.

A most successful organization dance opened the 1948-1949 term in early October. It was an unforgettable evening of diversified entertainment under the directive ingenuity of the society's president, John Norpel and his artistic wife, Dorothy.

Accounting Association

In its second year of existence, the Accounting Association of La Salle College was the largest organization on the campus with a student membership of 190. Its aim is to foster better relations among Accounting students by acquainting the students with opportunities existing in the accounting field. By having competent members of the profession address club members at meetings, it will promote greater interest in the vocation in which its members expect to earn their livelihood. Tours are conducted through the accounting departments of many large firms in the city, and thus, the students are afforded the opportunity of seeing in practice the theory of their textbooks.

National Students' Association

This organization, comprising over three hundred colleges and universities, and representing over one million students is now two years old. The vital necessity of a national community of students is no longer debated, and the efforts of the committee are primarily concerned with practical campus projects.

That college students may have a voice in the affairs of our society, and that united efforts can solve problems and inaugurate programs that would be impossible singularly were the underlying beliefs that stimulated N. S. A. growth.

As a distinguished La Salle graduate is the National President of this group, our campus committee has been in the limelight and the ability, energy, and leadership of the members have been a constant source of amazement.

A credit card system has been installed for student discounts on many consumer products. A student loan fund has been initiated. Scholarship programs, a music culturale, European tours and innumerable other projects have been sponsored and administered by this capable organization.

Its purposes are to form strong bonds of fraternity, to further the common interests of its members, and to provide information pertinent to their studies in professional or graduate schools. Although the Society was inactive during the war years, it is once again pursuing its objectives by inviting as guest speakers, at its monthly forums, men who are prominent in the various branches of the field of natural science—general practitioners, professional and graduate school professors, internes, and medical students. At its bi-weekly meetings, student members present papers in an attempt to make intelligible much that is obscure to the pre-professional or undergraduate student.

The National Federation of Catholic College Students campus group moved into action early in October at the first Regional Council Meeting held at La Salle with Regional President Tom Kehoe presiding and Secretary Gene McLoone recording minutes.

Working with the theme of greater use of the NFCCS as a vehicle for Catholic action the group's activities included the Legion of Prayer for Pope Pius XII's Golden Anniversary, the book exchange program, the Legislative Review Program on Federal Aid to Education, and the clothing drive and automobile raffle for the Student Relief Campaign. The regional and national congresses were held at St. Joseph's College and the Congress Hotel, Chicago. The finale of the year was the May Day demonstration held in the center of the city in co-operation with the seven other federation colleges in the region.

Newly instituted this year was the Inter-Racial Commission unit which initiated the Negro Scholarship program on a Regional level and also held an Inter-Racial Forum in the auditorium during Inter-Racial Week.

Social Science Club

The Social Science Club was organized in 1947 by Mr. Barrett and Mr. Halpin for the purpose of promoting a greater interest and activity in topics relative to this study.

During the course of the year, several prominent speakers in the fields of labor, law, crime prevention, social work and politics have addressed the club. Through their presentations, these speakers have given the club members a deeper insight into the various practical problems which are encountered in their respective fields. In addition to its academic programs, several social functions have also been sponsored by the organization.

Radio Workshop

In the summer of 1947, the Radio Workshop initiated its activities with the presentation, on campus, of a mock broadcast, written and produced by the members. During the last two seasons, it has produced sixteen programs with the WIBG Student Workshop Series and has gained a reputation for its progressiveness, the high quality of material and presentation of its selections. The variety of scripts produced has ranged from Shakespeare through mystery and contemporary comedy, and has provided its members with an opportunity to acquaint themselves with the fundamentals of radio acting, participation and skills. In addition, it has provided the Department of English with a file of electrical transcriptions of its broadcasts to be used in classroom instruction.

S. B. K.

The idea of the Gamma Chapter was first conceived by Kurt Lowe, the chapter's first president, and Edward O'Connor, the National Secretary of S.B.K. A meeting was held in the spring of 1947 for all students interested in forming the chapter. During the summer a constitution and a list of by-laws were drawn up, and on October 25, 1947, the members were officially sworn in at a ceremony held in Leonard Hall.

S.B.K. is a social fraternity and as such, dances, stags, and parties have been held in proportion to the Chapter's constant expansion. As a secondary purpose the fraternity has taken over the athletic program at St. John's Orphanage. Periodically, prizes are given to winning teams in football, basketball, and boxing.

Student Council

Cooperation between administration and Student Council is the solution to successful student government. The Student Council recognizes the worth of mature judgment by discussing student problems with faculty advisers. Through such meetings the rough edges of student reasoning are refined through the balancing suggestions of men who have devoted their lives to an understanding of the student personality.

Adoration Society

The Adoration Society, now in its second year at La Salle, accepts memberships from the entire student body. The conversion of Russia is the primary intention in the prayers of those who form the daily guard in the school chapel. This petition is addressed to Our Lord through the intercession of Our Lady of Fatima.

Glee Club

A College Glee Club is a representation of the Liberal Facilities offered by a College. Amongst its members are those who wish to augment their appreciation of the Fine Arts by partaking in them. Thus, the La Salle College Glee Club opens this opportunity to those who like to sing and who want to experience the emotion and love with which a certain piece of music is endowed.

As Poetry might be called a Static Art, Music on the other hand is a Restless Art. Its movement is felt in the sweeping rhythmic phrases, and the counter-balance of voices. This is what the La Salle Glee Club wants to aid the student to appreciate.

At present, the number of the Glee Club members is small, but this allows better opportunity for serious singing, and for mature enjoyment of a work of Art.

Presentation of the Gilbert and Sullivan light operetta, "H.M.S. Pinafore," was the major work of the Glee Club during the 1948-49 year. Girls from the College of Chestnut Hill participated in the show, which was produced with the co-operation of the La Salle Masque during the last week of May.

Members of the Glee Club, under the direction of Tom Quaid, go through their paces in the Phonetics Studio.

The LaSalle International Relations Club, an affiliate Commission of N.F.C.C.S., began this year's activities with the added assistance of the Carnegie Endowment, Foreign Policy Association of Philadelphia, and the Philadelphia United Nations Council.

The club's program emphasized leadership development by weekly club discussions, exhibits, foreign films, and selecting delegates to attend model conferences of the United Nations General Assembly, the U.N. Security Council, and the Pennsylvania General Assembly.

Radio Club

The Radio Club is primarily devoted to students interested in the technical aspects of amateur radio and television. Whenever desirable, instruction is provided in fundamental and advanced phases of radio. Among its achievements is the service and advice that is frequently rendered in the various laboratories. Since its revival three years ago, the club has been under the direction of Brother G. Joseph.

Photographic Society

As the Photographic Society grew in members and in stature under the directorship of Walt Brough, Bill Hearney and John Kane, additional features were added to the society's activities. Instructions and practical demonstrations in the art of photography were given by members of the society, including exhibitions of color slides by the members, lectures in darkroom procedures, filters, lighting and the use of film and chloro-bromide paper. Members also participated in a field excursion to catch interesting scenes and to award recognition to the better photographs.

Economics Club

The Economics Club which was brought back to the campus last year displayed an unusually aggressive growing power this year. The club, under the guidance of its faculty moderator, Dr. Flubacher, was one of the most active academic organizations on the campus. The club is dedicated to the study of both the practical and the theoretical problems in economics arising in our system.

The organization was able to bring to the campus several outstanding economists and through the medium of field trips enabled many of our students to observe some of our major economic institutions at work.

Historical Society

On the evening of December 5, 1948, a group of students of La Salle College met at the home of Dr. Joseph F. McCloskey to organize a society known as the Historical Society of La Salle College.

A constitution was drawn up by Raymond Reinl, Frank Leahy, and David Lawrence, and presented to the group to be ratified. The objects of the society are to unite those students interested in history, to stimulate an interest in history, and to act as a medium for the interchange of knowledge and ideas concerning history.

The Gavel

This year has seen a continued expansion of the activities of THE GAVEL, the collegiate debating society of La Salle College. With the primary purpose of developing the student's self reliance and confidence, the society has watched many of its novices develop into poised and confident speakers. The season featured participation in several tournaments, including the Benjamin Franklin Debate Conference tournament at Ursinus College, the Debating Association of Pennsylvania Colleges tournament at Allegheny College, and The U. S. Army National Tournament Region Seven elimination rounds.

Members of the Philosophy Club discuss Machiavelli's "The Prince" at a meeting in Benilde Hall.

Philosophy Club

The La Salle Philosophy Club is a new organization on the campus investigating the concepts of great thinkers of all time. In weekly informal discussions of philosophic writings its members have developed a deeper appreciation of the significant factors of life, devoid of superficiality.

It is dedicated to the proposition that Plato, Aristotle, Saint Thomas Aquinas, Saint Augustine, and the other "lovers of wisdom" solved their problems with a fundamental logic that is of value in solving the problems of the modern world.

Doernenburg Society

The Doernenburg Society was first founded in 1937, and was named in honor of Emil Doernenburg, Ph.D., Professor of German. Included in the curriculum, in order that a better appreciation and understanding of German culture might be achieved, is a program which includes such features as German movies, captured German films, speakers, and social affairs. The Society has also established friendly relations with other colleges and universities in the area, as well as with Federal, State, and Private Institutions and Organizations concerned with German history, culture, and art.

Out-of-Towners

The Out-of-Towners is a social club, the membership of which is limited to those students in La Salle whose homes are not in Philadelphia and who live more or less "on campus" in houses immediately around the College. The Club was first organized in 1947 and has since aided the growing number of boarding students to acquaint themselves with recreational opportunities and has itself provided those opportunities in an atmosphere of Catholic college life. The Club is devoted to the principle that through provision of necessary facilities the College may attract high caliber men from many states which will be of advantage to them, to La Salle, and to the students from the Philadelphia area.

Varsity Club

The Varsity Club is an organization of the Lettermen of La Salle College directed by officers selected from the senior class with the full cooperation of the Athletic Department. At its reorganization meeting, Athletic Director James Henry reiterated the purpose of the Club by stressing the importance of studies correlated with athletic prowess.

A leading organization on the campus during the period between 1931-1941, its reorganization indicates its return to a predominant position in campus activities.

Newtonian Society

The Newtonian Society, organized in 1946 by Brother Didymus John, is devoted entirely to the physical sciences. Its members volunteer to give weekly seminars on technical subjects, but an effort is always made to simplify the subject matter for the understanding of all.

In addition to this, the Society has undertaken various projects including the construction of a six inch telescope, a pyrolysis tube for making plastics, and a PH meter for determining the acidity of solutions.

Equestrian Society

After a successful inaugural year, the members of the Equestrian Society lost no time this year in mounting their steeds for their weekly gallop through the Wissahickon Valley. In addition to the many rollicking afternoons in the saddle, the innovation of moonlight hayrides and hot dog roasts attracted new members to their convivial gatherings.

Bridge Club

Opening its ranks to both the beginner and the expert, the Bridge Club offers opportunity to all for improvement in their respective games. Mr. Joseph Marron served as the moderator and Bill Manson was unanimously elected the club's first president. The club represented the school in several matches with bridge teams from the University of Pennsylvania and Temple University.

continuing a great tradition . . .

Sports at La Salle College have assumed added lustre during our stay. Under the capable supervision of our Director of Athletics, the traditional spirit of valiant determination asserted itself. Our teams regained national recognition and surpassed the record-breaking performances that were commonplace. Student participation in intramural athletics attained a new level of enthusiasm.

Basketball

La Salle, in its 48th year of basketball, has what appears to be one of the greatest teams in its history. To test this squad, which has eight returning lettermen and six sophomores, is a 26 game schedule that includes teams from every section of the country, and each a leader from its respective section.

The Explorers, after accepting an invitation to the National Championship Tournament last year held at Madison Square Garden, met the fast-moving and hard-fighting Western Kentucky team that handed La Salle the defeat which eliminated them from further participation in the tournament. La Salle played a fine game against Western Kentucky; however, the Kentuckians pulled ahead during the second half to gain the victory by a score of 68-61. Yet, La Salle's splendid record of 20 wins and 3 losses during the regular season remains as one of the best in the country.

The 1948-49 squad of fourteen players continues to maintain that fast pace which had gained them such great recognition during the previous season. Besides 6 foot 9 inch Larry Foust, there are also equally as dangerous men such as Captain Joe Greenberg, Bob McCann, Frank Comerford, and Inky Gallagher, all of whom are regulars from last year's squad. Not only is Coach McGlone able to start his games with those mentioned above, but he has a wealth of replacements that are in no way a hindrance to the team while in action. He has used Dick Adair, who can alternate with Foust, or any other of the starting five, most successfully as a utility man. Others who have contributed much to the present accomplishments of the squad are the sophomores who have been aptly nicknamed the "Reindeers" because of their inexhaustible speed and aggression, as well as great defensive strength.

Bob McCann registers two points after successfully evading Brigham Young's ace Randy Clark. McCann's 11 points sparked the Explorers' 76-54 triumph in their first Convention Hall appearance of the season.

The "Reindeers" include Matt Fanning, Jim Phelan, John Gillespie, Jack Haggerty, and John Byrne. These men are directly responsible for La Salle's victories over Millersville and Louisville University fives. McGlone used them strategically in both of these games, with the aim of running down the other team until La Salle was within sight of certain victory, then he would pull them out for a well-rested starting five. When these players work together or with other members of the squad they perform wonderfully and have certainly bolstered the Blue and Gold squad.

After trouncing the Alumni, the La Salle squad met Lock Haven State Teachers, to officially open the season and soundly walloped the visitors 67-38. Stealing the attention of the spectators during that game was John Gillespie, a 6 foot 3 inch sophomore, whose brilliant exhibition of shooting, backboard work, and floor play plus his 11 points, gained him single honors.

After they had travelled to Loyola and there, making more than fifty percent of their shots, downed the Greyhounds 78-57, with scoring honors going to Larry Foust with his 29 points for the night, the Explorers made their first appearance of the season at Convention Hall where they met the highly-rated Brigham Young University. The Blue and Gold treated the Hall spectators to a game of smooth passing and fast-breaking offensive which completely bewildered the Brigham Young team and ended in a 76-51 victory for La Salle. With this victory behind them LaSalle had brought its winning streak to three games and then went on to extend it to five by defeating Millersville and Albright. In their second appearance at the Hall the Explorers were victorious over the strong southern five from Georgia Tech. Then, in what proved to be one of the best games at Convention Hall all season, the Explorers and the Louisville University five had the spectators in a constant uproar for forty minutes in a game which included a bit of fisticuffs on the part of both

Walt Colman, Larry Foust (14) and Dick Adair (6) gang up to take the ball from Louisville's Jack Coleman as Ken Reeves (21) heads down court. Explorers won Convention Hall thriller, 76-71.

La Salle's Frank Comerford (17) gets inside under two Ramblin' Wrecks, Bill Serneheim (11) and Dave Lupton, to score two points in Explorers' 67-59 triumph. Number 5 is Tech's 6:09 center Jim Nolan.

Inky Gallagher captures rebound despite efforts of Frisco's John Bennington (17), Don Giesen and Joe McNamee (16) as Larry Foust moves in to lend a hand. Frisco handed the Explorers their first reversal, 51-45 at Convention Hall.

La Salle's Walt Coleman has his shot partially blocked by Jim McGee of Muhlenberg. The Explorers downed the Mules 73-56 at the Palestra.

teams. La Salle finally won by a 76-71 score.

After the smoke had cleared and everyone settled back to relax, a few Convention Hall records had been broken. Louisville had committed thirty-four fouls to break the old mark of twenty-six held jointly by La Salle and St. Joseph's, while the Explorers wrote in two others. One was for the most foul tries, forty-one, and the other for the most foul conversions, thirty. Temple held the two latter records, thirty-seven fouls tried and twenty-eight conversions.

The seven game winning streak of the Explorers was snapped by the ball-grabbing and the highly defensive team from the University of San Francisco in a tightly contested battle which resulted in a 51-45 loss for La Salle.

During the month of January, the Explorers had to face some of the country's best teams. The Explorers were on the road for most of the time, a strain which had telling effects. In rapid succession the Explorers defeated Muhlenberg, Holy Cross, Loyola, Toledo; a test to any team even with sufficient rest between games.

The effects of scheduling games with highly rated teams one night after another, showed when the Baldwin-Wallace five scored an upset over La Salle 52-49. When the Explorers returned to Philadelphia Temple greeted them with another upset. The Owls employed a tight zone defense that made it necessary for the Explorers to resort to a set shot offensive. The Blue and Gold five could not find the range all night and walked off the floor stunned by the amazing defeat of 54-36. The La Salle squad, travelling to Canisius College, regained their stride by promptly downing their hosts 59-43. La Salle returned to Philadelphia long enough to take two more wins: one from Muhlenberg and the other from St. Joseph's. It was in this last game that Larry Foust scored 39 points to establish a new Hall record. Once again the Explorers packed up and travelled west to meet two very strong Ohio teams. In the first game of the trip the Explorers were edged out in the final quarter to drop a hotly contested game to Bowling Green; the following night the Explorers regained their winning ways by turning back Cincinnati, one of the country's highest scoring teams, 42-36.

In the game with the Manhattan Jaspers, played at Convention Hall, La Salle virtually outclassed the New York team in registering a decisive victory by a score of 76-46. Following up this splendid triumph the La Salle team invaded the University of Pennsylvania Palestra where, led by the tremendous offensive operations of Dick Adair who scored 21 points, the Blue and Gold surged ahead in the quest for a tournament bid, by defeating the Quakers 64-44 before the largest crowd to witness a Penn game this year.

Resting upon the final games of the season was the possibility of an invitation to the National Tournament. The Explorers, under great pressure, defeated Georgetown, Lafayette, and Gettysburg, but fell in defeat to Manhattan and North Carolina State in the pay-off games. These two losses were enough to spoil La Salle's tournament chances. However, La Salle played in a post-season tournament at Cincinnati, where they advanced to the finals only to be defeated in that game by the University of Cincinnati.

Pictured is a typical example of the tight zone defense employed by Temple in upsetting La Salle, 54-36. The Owls' Dick Gernert (17), Johnny Ballots (8), and Lou Grayboyes (behind Gernert) gang up on Larry Foust (14), as Ike Borsavage (12) gets set to make it four against one.

The action shot of the year shows Ace McCann in one of his famous "keep 'em guessing" leaps. The two unidentified Georgia Tech players find themselves faced with the problem of guessing whether Ace will take the shot himself or pass off to one of his teammates. In this case, Ace fed an assist to Frank Comerford, not pictured.

BERNARD SAMUEL
MAYOR

CITY OF PHILADELPHIA
OFFICE OF THE MAYOR

PHILADELPHIA 1. PA.

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, on October 15, next, the student body of LaSalle College will welcome home its Olympic Champion, Joe Verdeur, and

WHEREAS, in view of the young Champion's contribution to the world of sports and in consideration of the world-wide recognition our City has received as a result of his diligent training and spectacular achievements in aquatic sports, fitting recognition should be given,

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Bernard Samuel, Mayor of the City of Philadelphia, proclaim JOE VERDEUR DAY in honor of him who won the event in which he was entered recently in London and who, since his return to Philadelphia, has received the acclaim of the people in recognition of his humility, perseverance and the fine example he has set for the youth of our City.

Given under my hand and the Seal of the City of Philadelphia this thirteenth day of October one thousand nine hundred forty-eight.

Bernard Samuel

"Man From Olympus"

La Salle's Olympic champion and world record-holder Joe Verdeur was officially welcomed back to the campus by a throng of over 2500 persons gathered in McCarthy Stadium on Friday, October 15, 1948. Joe Verdeur Day.

A motorcade of twenty cars, preceded by the Philadelphia Police and Firemans Band, escorted Verdeur from Broad and Lindley Streets to the stadium.

Mayor Bernard Samuel had officially proclaimed it "Joe Verdeur Day" because of Verdeur's "contribution to the world of sports and in consideration of the world-wide recognition our city had received as a result of his diligent training and spectacular achievements in aquatic sports."

Speakers introduced by Jesse Cain '50, who acted as master of ceremonies, were: Monsignor Emmett Monahan, an uncle of Verdeur; William Merriman, Chairman of the College Coaches Swimming Association; Father John McFadden, Pastor of Verdeur's home parish, St. Anne's; James Henry, director of athletics; Brother G. Paul, college president; Joseph Kirk, coach of swimming; and John McIntyre '50 an Olympic coxswain.

Verdeur, visibly touched by the acclaim accorded him by his fellow students, stated that although he had been honored by many groups since his return from the Olympics, "I have never had the privilege of being honored by such a fine group of men as those at La Salle College."

Over 2500 students and guests assembled in McCarthy Stadium to officially welcome home Joe Verdeur on "Joe Verdeur Day", the day designated by Mayor Samuels to honor Joe's Olympic achievements.

Swimming

The La Salle 1948-49 swimming team faced what was probably the toughest swimming schedules of any college or university in the country. The high point of the schedule was the ten day trip in February during which the natators met Michigan State, Michigan, Detroit and Wayne Universities.

Coach Joe Kirk has depended on such men as Captain Joe Verdeur, Olympic winner, and other returning varsity members including, Hank Furlong, Frank Wahl, Hank Lentzsch, Paul Zvigaitis, all freestylers; Bill McCracken and Ed Richards, backstrokers; Marty Gelhaus and Paul Flack, divers. Coach Kirk also was fortunate in drawing such outstanding swimmers as Farrell Devlin, Bob Regan, Allan Rhodes, and Joe Sweeney, freestylers; Chuck Garvey, breast-

Mayor Bernard Samuel presents Philadelphia's only Olympic champion with a chest of silverware as a token of the city's appreciation of his accomplishments. Joe's mother, Mrs. Sophia Verdeur, beams proudly as her son is honored.

The Kirkmen opened the season against one of its toughest rivals and turned back the University of Pennsylvania 41-34. At this meet two of the sophomores paced the field by turning in two firsts apiece. Both Bob Regan and Farrell Devlin exhibited more than average form by splashing to double victories. At this meet Ed Richards and Captain Joe Verdeur took first place in their events.

The Explorers, after travelling to Yale and losing to one of the best collegiate teams of the country 48-27 in which the Blue and Gold took only two firsts, Verdeur's 200 yard breaststroke, and the 400 yard freestyle relay with Allan Rhodes, Farrell Devlin, Bob Regan and Joe Verdeur turning the tide, next met the highly-rated North Carolina State team. Against North Carolina State the Explorers fascinated the Raleigh spectators by outscoring the Staters 41-34.

Again Verdeur and Devlin set new pool records; in the 220 yard breaststroke Verdeur turned in the time of 2:21.3, and Devlin splashed to victory in 2:17 in the 220 yard freestyle. Other firsts were turned in by Bob Regan in the 50 and 100 yard freestyles, and the 300 yard medley relay team of Ed Richards, Joe Verdeur, and Allan Rhodes.

After winning three of the first four meets, beating Penn, Williams College, and North Carolina State and losing to Yale, the Explorers were dunked by the University of North Carolina before the largest crowd ever to witness a swimming meet in the South by the score 45-30, despite the fact that Verdeur chopped 12.8 seconds off the pool record while turning in a 2:16.1 triumph in the 220 yard breaststroke. The 300 yard relay team set a pool record of 2:57.1 for that event, and Bob Regan, sensational sophomore captured his seventh straight first place of the season in the 50 yard freestyle. However, greater depth gained the swimmers from Chapel Hill their 39th consecutive dual meet victory.

The Explorers took a westward trip during the Mid-Term Holidays, to meet the University of Michigan and Michigan State. In these two meets the La Salle swimmers could not quite equal the opposition. In the meet with Michigan State both Joe Verdeur and Bob Regan took first place in their events. The University of Michigan, another of the better teams in the country, handed La Salle its last defeat of the season by the score of 45-28. Despite our losses at the hands of the best in the country, the swimmers, under the coaching of Joe Kirk, maintained a noteworthy record of seven victories in eleven starts.

Bob Regan a promising sophomore freestyler prepares to begin a 50 yard sprint, his specialty, during a practice session at the Germantown YMCA.

Joe Verdeur splashes to victory and a new world record of 2:14.7 for the 200 yard breaststroke in the 25th Annual NCAA meet at the University of Michigan. It was the eighth time he had lowered his own standard.

Pinch hitter Bob Boyle, who cracked a double to lead the Explorers' ninth inning rally, scores the winning run on a squeeze bunt by Tom Dougherty as La Salle tops Ursinus 5-4. Wally Widholm is the Ursinus catcher.

Harry Miller, Explorer shortstop, is nailed at the plate by Loyola catcher Mike Zedalis as he tried to score from second on a short single. Despite this play, La Salle took the game 4-3.

Baseball

The Explorer Baseball Team, in its third year as a major sport at La Salle, registered eight victories against seven losses for the 1948 campaign. Coach Bill Haeffner's charges coupled strong pitching with timely hitting to record their first winning season.

With such outstanding hurlers as Dick Adair, Leon Stallings, Syd Duke, Steve Tracy, and Denny O'Conner breezing them by the opposition and Captain Joe Williams, Frank Hanson, Vince O'Donnell, Jack Hogan and Tom Dougherty pounding out base hits the Explorers registered five consecutive victories before tasting defeat. They turned back Albright, Muhlenburg, Ursinus, Lebanon Valley, and Loyola before being blanked by the University of Delaware in a 6-0 shut out. Temple and West Chester, two of the stronger teams in the district, also defeated the Explorer nine to bring the record to five victories as against three defeats at the half way mark.

The La Salle squad regained its winning stride by dumping the University of Baltimore. The Hawks of St. Joseph's College thumped the Explorers in one of the worst defeats in the three year history of the game at La Salle, 15-4. Still stunned by this lopsided defeat, they also fell before the Drexel Dragons 8-7.

The Haeffnermen finished out their season by splitting their last four games, topping Scranton twice and losing to Drexel and St. Joseph's.

With the entire squad returning, the Explorers are working diligently to attain the peak of condition in an effort to improve their season record. They will be bolstered by a number of promising Sophomores, among them basketball player Johnny Bryne.

The new ball field is being readied for use this season. It was a large scale operation involving the importing of many truckloads of earth and sod. The new diamond was made necessary because of the narrow confines of the field at 21st and Nedro Ave. The complicated ground rules concerning the short right and left field fences worked a real hardship on the pitchers. Many pokes that would normally have been loud outs sailed over the wall for automatic doubles, while occasionally a ball that was really tagged went for a double where, on other fields, it might have been good for the circuit.

The Explorer nine will be bolstered at the end of the basketball season when six foot five inch Dick Adair will switch uniforms and start limbering up his pitching arm. Adair had one of the best earned run averages on the staff last year and Coach Haeffner is counting heavily on him to come through again this year.

Dick Bahney, Lebanon Valley, stretches to take the throw and retire Tom Dougherty in a game won by La Salle by a 5-3 score on the Explorers' home field.

Bob Poletti, Hawk catcher, drives out a two-base hit as St. Joseph's crushes La Salle 15-4 on the Hawk field. Jack McGuire is behind the plate for the Explorers.

Track

Track at La Salle has been steadily on the up-swing since the end of the war. But, it was during the '48 season that the cindermen, by their hard work and constant striving to better themselves, established La Salle as one of the more promising teams in the East. Under Coach Bill Devlin and Advisory Coach Frank Wetzler, the Explorers succeeded in bolstering the weaknesses of the previous season.

Opening the '48 season the Explorers exhibited their strength on both the field and track by defeating Drexel $90\frac{1}{2}$ to $35\frac{1}{2}$. La Salle took ten of the fourteen events. Tom Powell, Bill Fielder, Tim Callahan, Frisby Euell, Gus Constant, and Jim Tuppeny all took firsts in their events. After out-pacing the Drexel team, the Explorers next saw action in the Annual Penn Relay Carnival. During the two days of action the Explorers placed second in the Middle Atlantic States Championship mile relay on the first day and took first place in the class mile Appearing as though he was floating over the cross-bar, Jim Tuppeny, stellar pole-vaulter, begins his descent after clearing the bar in a meet at La Salle's McCarthy Stadium.

relay of the second day. The team composed of Bernard Rafferty, John Kelly, Clarence Harris, and Frisby Euell, turned in the time of 3:29.9 on the first day and the same team ran a 3:29.2 mile on the following day. The 440 yard relay team composed of Jim Tuppeny, Bill Fielder, Bill Fitzgerald, and Tom Powell placed third in their event.

In a triangular meet held at Swarthmore, La Salle placed second to Swarthmore and P.M.C. placed third. La Salle was paced by Bill Fitzgerald who took two first places, both in the hurdles. Other winners were Bill Fielder, Jim Tuppeny, Clarence Harris, and Frisby Euell. La Salle scored $61\frac{1}{2}$ points to Swarthmore's $71\frac{3}{4}$ and P.M.C.'s $21\frac{3}{4}$.

The Explorers exhibited superior form in the three-sided meet with Muhlenberg and Temple, in which they gained a splendid victory by scoring $66\frac{1}{2}$ points against Muhlenberg's $60\frac{1}{2}$ and Temple's 26.

During this meet John Kelly established a new La Salle College record for the 880 yard run by tuning in the time of 2:04.4; and Clarence Harris set a new La Salle College mark for the 440 yard run with his time of 50.6.

In the other big meet of the season La Salle ran fifth in a field of sixteen teams in the Middle Atlantic States Championships. John Kelly again lowered the La Salle College mark in the 880 yard event with the time 1:59.5.

La Salle's cross-country team was victorious in three of its six meets. The Explorers defeated Scranton, Lincoln, and took a three-way meet by defeating Albright and Lafayette; while losing to Pennsylvania, West Chester, and Georgetown. La Salle placed sixth in the Middle Atlantic States Championships.

The Indoor Track team was very active; the team has made representative showings in the Inquirer Invitation Meet, and other meets in Washington and New York.

Tennis

With nine returning lettermen, the LaSalle Tennis team, coached by Dan Gallagher, looks to this season optimistically. Last season the Explorers found the opposition quite strong and they did not fare as well as they had expected. The squad, in being edged out in many of the matches, ended the season with a record that was below average.

A few of the teams which the Explorers defeated were Loyola, Lebanon Valley, Lincoln, and Ursinus. Leading the Tennis team this year will be Captain Jack Maguire who, with the other returning lettermen, will be striving to overcome the lopsided season record of last year. This season's line-up of teams includes the Universities of Pennsylvania and Temple, Drexel Institute, Swarthmore College, West Chester State Teachers College and other teams from the Middle Atlantic States.

Golf

Preparing for the third season as a permanent sports activity at LaSalle, the Golf Team, coached by Robert Courtney, will again be meeting strong opponents from this area and other teams from the Middle Atlantic States.

During the previous season the Explorers' record was marred by defeats handed them by Albright, Temple, Drexel, Pennsylvania, and the Naval Academy Plebes, while on the win side of the column the Blue and Gold was not so fortunate. On the whole their record was below average. Coach Courtney feels, however, that if the team is able to practice more often during the season it will give them that extra boost that is needed. At the present time the Explorers have no home links at which they may carry on organized practice rounds.

Despite the obstacles in the path of the team they again will face the University of Pennsylvania, Swarthmore College, Haverford College, West Chester State Teachers College and other formidable squads.

Simendinger, Frank Cosgrove, Dick Mooney, Jim Conboy, Manager, and in front coxswain Bones McDonnell.

Coach Jack Bratten will be leaning heavily on his returning lettermen to carry the Blue and Gold to a successful crew season. In the early autumn outing Coach Bratten was pleased with the manner in which the varsity eight went through its paces on the Schuylkill River. However, Coach Bratten was aware of the need of more depth in his squad and felt that in the Spring he would have a better turnout of candidates.

As a nucleus for the varsity crew Coach Bratten will call upon his returning lettermen Dick Mooney, Bob Bond, Jack Lawn, Dan Conlin, John Winkler, Jim Dougherty, Ted Simendinger, Bob Wieman, and Coxswain, Bones MacDonell. Also Coach Bratten will have the added aid of John McIntyre, a junior, who coxswained the pair-oared Vesper Boat Club shell to victory in the National Championships and later in the Olympic trials, where they set a new record for the 2000 meter course. McIntyre was the second LaSalle athlete to compete in the Olympics during the summer at London.

This year the Explorer squad will be using two brand new shells which have been purchased from the same manufacturer who made the shells used by the United States Crews in the Olympics.

Frosh Basketball

Once again the Freshman Basketball team at La Salle has turned in a representative record. Coach Cliff Anderson's fine handling of this squad is an important feature in its success. The squad is headed by such outstanding players as Captain Franny McMenamin, a former Roman Catholic High stellar performer; Bud Donnelly, a fine play-maker from La Salle High, the Catholic League champs of 1948; John Grauer, a 6'6" center from the same championship team; Newt Jones, a brilliant team player from Northeast Public High; Ed Burton, a product from California who played on the same team with Bob McCann while in the Navy; and Ed Altieri, from Southern High. With these men as the nucleus and other able men to replace them, it is no wonder the Frosh has continued to uphold the fine record that the previous freshmen had established.

Franny McMenamin, rosh captain, gains altitude and registers another field goal on his way to registering a new floor record of 41 points against Fort Dix. Jack Brier (9), and Charlie Wynne (14) are the interested onlookers.

Frosh Swimming

Coach Joe Kirk of the La Salle Varsity and Freshman Swimming teams has voiced his pleasure in having a superior squad of freshmen swimmers. Last season's freshmen are making wonderful success with the varsity, while this year's freshmen appear to have the makings of one of the finest groups of swimmers in collegiate circles. Kirk is fortunate in having such swimmers as Bill Dorsch, from Roman Catholic High, a backstroker; Mickey McCarthy, West Reading High; Pat Kennedy, Amherst High, both divers; and Frank Staunton, a breaststroker, all of whom have received scholastic All-American ratings.

Highlighting the Frosh season were their victories over the strong University of Pennsylvania Freshmen and Girard College.

In the meeting with Penn Frosh the Explorers turned in a very impressive 41-25 victory. Charles Keller, Bob Fitzgerald, and Jack Ricks were winners in the 50, 100, and 200 yard free-styles respectively. Jim Norman triumphed in the 100 yard breaststroke, and Bill Dorsch in the 100 yard backstroke. The diving honors went to Pat Kennedy; while the trio of Bill Griffin, Frank Staunton, and Jack Blewett won the 150 yard medley relay. Against Girard College, the Frosh took five firsts and then weakened in the relays to net them a 43-23 victory. In another of the season's meets the Explorers splashed second to a strong Yale University Frosh in a very close meet in which the Eli's edged out a 36-30 victory.

Intramurals

The three sport intramural program of Softball, Basketball, and Touch Football has been increasing in popularity year after year and competition continues to become just a bit stiffer. The intense interest and the fiery competition only go to prove the spirit of the students to display sportsmanship and good fellowship.

During the '48 summer session the Softball League was packed with thrills and hard playing. The entire summer was spent in playing the regular scheduled games which found the two top teams, the Hornets and the Exploiters, meeting on September 7 for the final game of the play-offs, with the Hornets emerging victorious.

The meeting of these two teams, the Hornets, the first half champions, and the Exploiters, the Bill Coyle of the Hornets, takes a healthy swing at the ball in the final game of the Softball play-offs, in which the Hornets defeated the Exploiters 9-2.

The Touch Football League under the co-directors Joe Kirk and Charlie McGlone, saw the season start with fifteen teams. At the season's end two very strong six-man teams were ready to compete for the championship. The Ramblers and the Neural Impulses met on a cold December afternoon in a rough and bruising defensive battle in which the Ramblers annexed the championship by downing the stubborn Neural Impulses by a slight score of 2-0. The scoring came when "Spinner" Nelson crashed thru to tag Herb Roland in the end zone. This was the second Intramural championship for the Ramblers.

In the Basketball Intramurals we find as many as thirty-four teams competing for the crown.

It was necessary to form four leagues to handle all the teams; each league will have a champion who will have to compete in the play-offs with the other leaders of the other three leagues. From the early showings of the teams there is little doubt that the league will carry on until late in the Spring.

In 1940, upon request of the students of the College, Fred Waring, Tom Waring and Pat Ballard composed the now popular La Salle Loyalty Song. The majority of the student body motored to New York City to witness the Fred Waring broadcast that aired this song for the first time.

Acknowledgements

We, the Explorer staff, wish to take this opportunity to thank the many friends we have found in the task of publishing a college yearbook. Their interest and willing cooperation are sincerely appreciated and provided an endless source of encouragement to us. In particular we extend our gratitude to:

Brother G. Paul, F.S.C., and Brother E. Stanislaus, F.S.C., whose wise counsel and experienced advice have been of inestimable value.

Mr. Dan Solari of Campus Publishing who mitigated considerably an otherwise difficult project.

Mr. John Kelly, Director of Public Relations, for his invaluable aid in research.

Mr. John A. Stinson for a ready sense of humor and his constructive suggestions.

The members of the Collegian Staff for the use of their files, and an amiable atmosphere in which to work.

Brother E. Clementian, F.S.C., the moderator of the Explorer, whose sincerity and kindness will never be forgotten.
